

The Great Income Tax Hoax and state that, in the book, "As with all his teachings, Irwin offers an alternative, a way out." If that advertisement accurately describes the contents of the book then offering the book for sale would violate the order. If you send me a copy of the book, I can determine whether to specifically include or exclude this book from any contempt motion. Otherwise, I will describe the advertisement and ask the Court to order that you produce the book for the Court to review.

You also permitted Exhibits A and B of Series 7-4 to be posted on the www.taxfreedomnow.com website. As demonstrated by the Government's response to your motion to reconsider, a copy of which is attached, your dissemination of those documents violates the preliminary injunction. It appears that this website is operating at your direction or with your assistance, and it links to many of the same web pages on the www.paynoincometax.com website that violate the Court's order. To the extent that this purportedly independent website contains information provided by you or posted with your assistance, it must conform to the Court's order.

Finally, during my telephone conversation with Mr. Schiff on June 27, I suggested that he make a list of every customer to whom you are sending a copy of the June 16 order while you are addressing the envelopes. Mr. Schiff claimed that the Government has all of the names of his customers through the search warrant and suggested that he would not construct or provide the customer list. This approach is not acceptable for three reasons. First, Department of Justice civil attorneys such as myself do not have access to the seized materials, absent a specific court order authorizing access. Second, the list provides a method of ensuring that you have complied with the Court's order. The Government may contact some or all of your customers to ensure that you have, in fact, sent the entire court order to all of your customers. And third, the June 16 order specifically requires that you construct a client list and turn it over to the Government. Any violation of the order can lead to contempt sanctions.

If you have any questions, please contact me at the number listed above. I look forward to your prompt response to my concerns.

Sincerely yours,

EVAN J. DAVIS
Trial Attorney
Civil Trial Section, Central Region

Encl:

Service copy of the United States' Response to Defendants' Motion to Reconsider